How to Export Gale Citations to NoodleTools

The Library’s research databases come from a variety of vendors, but many of them are sold by Gale. The Gale databases allow the user to export citation information directly into NoodleTools. These instructions will show you how to export a citation from a Gale research database into your NoodleTools account.

1. Start at any Gale database article page. Scroll down to the bottom of the page to the citation area and click on the NoodleTools icon. Be sure to verify the citation style. The default is MLA 8th Edition.

2. A new tab will open in your browser with the citation shown. If you are signed in to NoodleTools, you can select which project you wish to send this citation. If you are not signed in to NoodleTools, you will be prompted to log in. After logging in, go back to the tab with the Gale article and click Export again. The citation can now be added to a new project or a project in your account.
