How to Export NoodleTools to Google Docs

NoodleTools allows you to export your list of citations into Google Docs. These instructions assume that you have already created your citations with NoodleTools.

1. Open NoodleTools and click on the grey button that reads My account at the top right of the screen. Select My profile from the drop-down menu. This will redirect you to the NoodleTools profile edit page.

2. Insert the email associated with your Google account into the textbox labeled Google Account Email. Then click Save Profile.

3. The NoodleTools Dashboard page will appear. Click on the Paper tab from the menu at the top of the screen.

4. You will be redirected to a sign-in screen from Google. Sign in to your Google account. Note that you must sign in using the same address that is entered in your profile under My Account.

5. After signing in to your Google account, you will be sent back to NoodleTools. Click on the Sources tab from the menu at the top of the screen.
6. Click on the drop-down menu Print/Export and select the option Print/Export to Google Docs.

7. Your fully-formatted reference list will then appear in a Google Doc. NoodleTools automatically creates a new Google Doc. It cannot be made to export your citations into a pre-existing Google Doc.

For more assistance exporting your citations into Google Docs, visit the NoodleTools Help Desk.

These instructions and images were obtained from NoodleTools.