Early in the Fall 2010 term, a task force of the Governance And Planning Committee (GAP) was created to review existing goals and create a streamlined college focus for the next two academic years. This task force, which included representation from the Academic Senate, Classified Senate, and ASB, reviewed documents from Mission College's Educational Master Plan as well as from additional planning documents from the last two years. The task force further reviewed the recommendations that came out of our Fall 2010 Flex Day activities, in which all participants were asked to review the existing goals. The purpose of this process was not to create altogether new goals; but rather to utilize the results from existing planning activities. Mission chose to simply focus efforts from to a manageable level for the next two years. At the end of these two years, the college will engage in comprehensive planning through the development of a new Educational Master Plan.

Using the previously adopted Eight Core Values as a frame, the Task Force identified one to two fundamental goals for each of the core values that the college would focus on for the 2010-11 and 2011-12 academic years. These goals were reviewed and modified through discussions with the college constituent groups and GAP. GAP approved the attached goals on December 1, 2010.
