

Mission College Online Course Success Rate Comparisons

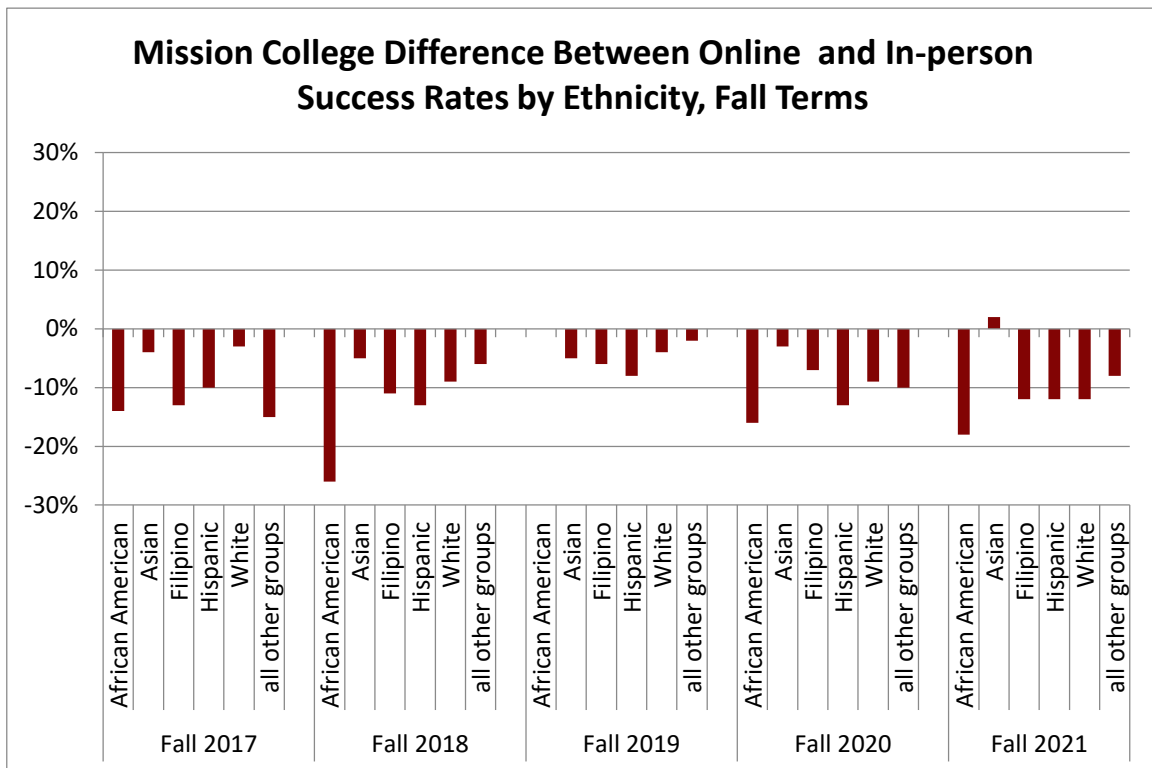

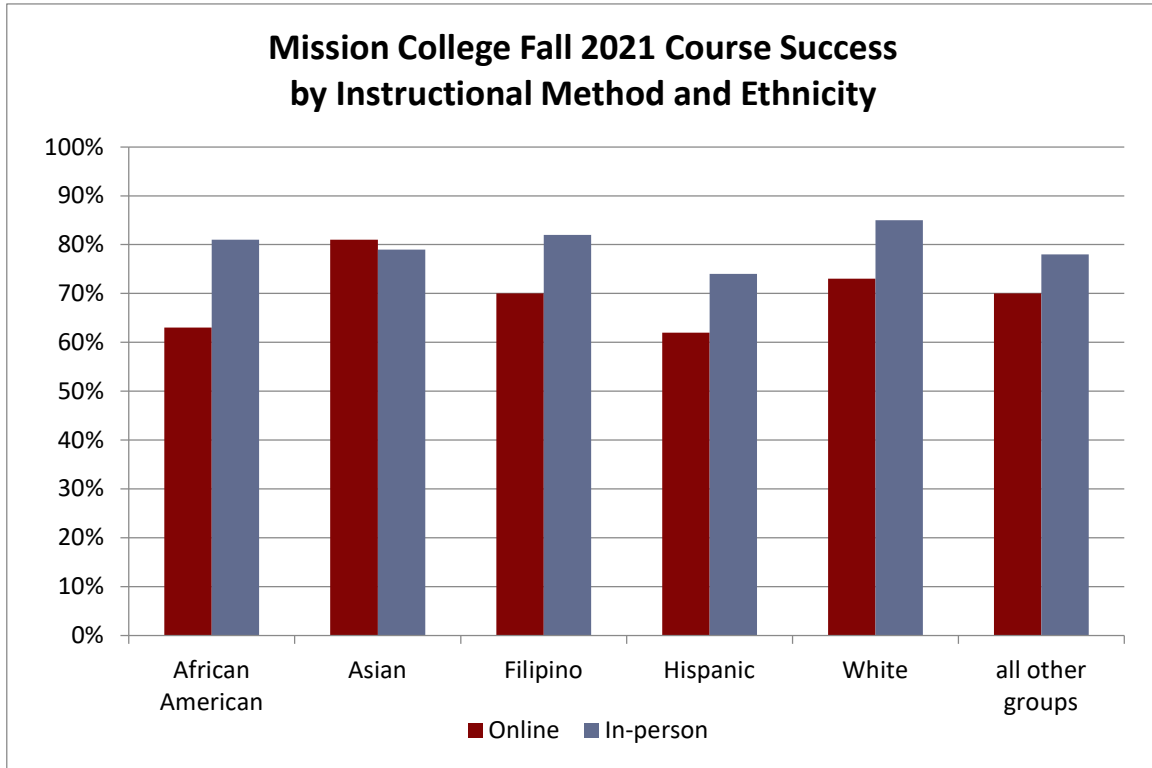

Office of Instruction, April 4, 2022

Observations

- Pre-pandemic online enrollment was about 20% of overall enrollment.
- Fall online course success rates are consistently below those for in-person classes.

- The differences in success rates between online and in-person courses occur across ethnicity groups with the exception of fall 2021 where Asian student online success rates were higher than in-person. This was not the case for previous fall terms though the difference for Asian students was less than for other groups.

- Overall the gap between online and in-person withdraw rates is larger and more consistent than the gap in nonsuccess rates over the fall terms 2017 to 2021.
